Forbearance Agreement

A forbearance allows you to temporarily reduce, postpone, or suspend making payments on your student loan. Interest continues to accrue, and when the forbearance expires the unpaid interest is added (capitalized) to the principal balance of your loan. A forbearance request must be approved by your lender.

Borrower Request

I request a forbearance to cover any amount currently past due on my loan, not to exceed a total of 12 months. Although I intend to repay my student loan, I am temporarily unable to make payments because:

Borrower Agreement

By signing this, I certify I am willing to repay my loan but unable to do so at this time for the reasons above. I understand that interest that accrues up to the date of the forbearance, along with all unpaid interest that accrues during the forbearance period will be added to and become part of the principal balance. I understand the maximum length of a single forbearance is 12 months. I agree to repay my loan at the conclusion of the forbearance according to the terms of my promissory note and repayment schedule. The information in this request is true and correct.
