

Commerce Bank Integrated Receivables

It's no secret that cash is oxygen for business, but your finance team doesn't have the bandwidth to manually send invoices, call up every single customer for payments, apply cash manually, and do credit risk assessment all at once. As the CFO of a mid-sized business, your job gets more difficult with exponentially increasing volume, limited resources, and juggling through competing priorities. The CommercePayments® Integrated Receivables Solution can help you with this. Get control of your receivables with faster cash conversion and improved visibility while giving time back to your team to focus on what matters more: high yield critical decisions. Here's how: Automate invoice delivery so that your customers get them on time with minimal effort. Enable your customers to make payments in their preferred format through a self-service customer portal.

For midsize companies, this could make all the difference between getting paid and customers defaulting. Focus on high-risk critical accounts through a prioritized work list. For Low risk customers, increase your collections account coverage with automated correspondence and in-app calling. Gain access to all customer information, credit data payment trends, and past collaboration history in a single view. No more hassle of multiple disparate tools.

Enable zero-touch cash posting with an A.I. powered remittance aggregator across check stubs, emails and customer portals and automated invoice matching even with non-invoice reference numbers. Integrate directly with your bank so that your analysts don't need to invest manual effort in data aggregation. Automate cash application to help your team. Focus on downstream processes of credit and collections.

Fast track credit assessment with built in credit data and automated credit scoring based on best in class models of your industry. Enable your cross-functional teams to access real time credit data any time anywhere. Mitigate risks, identify opportunities, and stay up to date on your customer portfolio with real time credit risk monitoring. Affordable quick to deploy and prepackaged with industry specific best practices.

CommercePayments® integrated receivables can seamlessly integrate with your ERP. It's time to take your receivables to the next level. Talk to our payment specialists today to learn more.