

Identity Theft Services Video Transcript

As your primary financial institution, we want to help maintain your financial well-being by helping to protect you against identity theft and fraud.

These crimes impact the lives of nearly 20 million Americans every year, and fraudsters don't discriminate on age, location, or how much money you have.

When identity theft occurs, there can be a range of financial consequences that may be difficult and time consuming to reverse.

And once your information is out there, it can be traded or sold, making the impact of the original event harder to contain.

Data breaches are different from identity theft.

As a bank customer, you already receive assistance for fraud that happens with your account.

Our award-winning identity theft protection, detection, and resolution services are designed to cover other areas, such as: Medical Fraud, Tax Fraud, and the Distribution of your Personal Information.

Services include: tips to help you avoid fraud, alerts regarding breaches and other recent fraud trends, a mobile app to help you protect your information while you're on the go, such as health insurance and social security numbers.
